

Multination Emergency Response Medical Team (MERMT)'s mission is to bridge the gap between conflicts and medical aid. We are a team of volunteers with former Military and/or medical training. Most of the team has already been deployed to Northern Syria and Iraq as Combat Medics with more joining to deploy in January 2017. Our main objectives are:

- Individual first Aid kits training and supply
- Tactical combat casualty care training (TCCC)
- Training combat medics in medical and tactical training
- Train and operate both armored and light skinned ambulances
- Operate as a combat medic team

We are currently raising funds and donated supplies from individuals and companies. We are able to buy individual first aid kits (IFAKs) for a discounted rate of $40. Each IFAK is potentially a life saved which we saw firsthand many times during the operation to liberate Manbij, Northern Syria from ISIL.

Companies and organizations that have donated equipment and/or supplies we have utilized in Iraq and Syria with our volunteers, local personnel and civilians in conflict areas. In return we share your support on our site, social media and international media.

Thank you for your support,

Alex Moreau
